HYPER NEWSLETTER

Summer 2020

WELCOME TO THE THIRD NEWSLETTER OF THE HYPER PROJECT!

The HYPER project is an ERASMUS+ funded project, which aims to empower young people to safeguard themselves from online threats, and to support them in building awareness about the threat of online radicalization. We are now in month 18 of the project and things have progressed really well, especially considering that COVID-19 has made such an impact on everyone's lives in the past number of months.

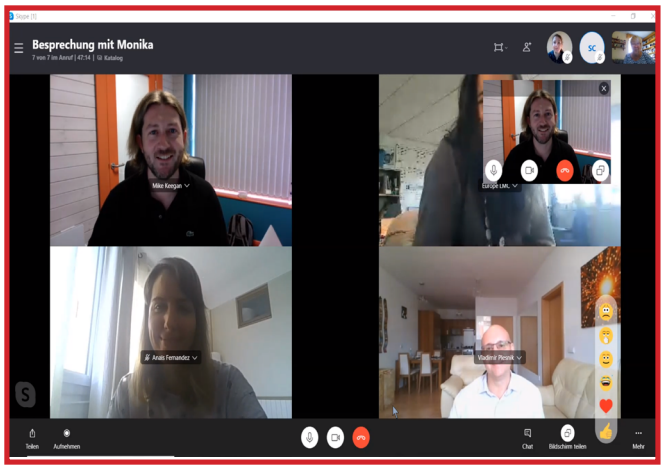
Update on Intellectual Outputs

Partners have finished the development and production of IO1, which included 12 simula-tion video resources that show the radicaliza-tion process and demonstrates how the most popular digital media channels and pro-grammes are used by those seeking to prey on young people. Along with the 12 videos, partners created self-help resources that address the different circumstances and person-ality traits highlighted by research in the UK as those which make youngsters more prone to the threat of radicalization. The final materials address topics such as gaming, fake news and recruitment methods. The format of the videos range from cartoons to music videos. Partners are delighted with the final version of these resources and are looking forward to the reaction from project stakeholders.

IO2, the Peer Training Programme, has also been finalized in all partner languages. This resource will support peer youth leaders to take an active role in tackling the radicalization process. It is a very useful, innovative tool that will make a huge bit of difference to people who need it the most.

Partners are in the final stages of creating IO3, the In Service and Induction Training programme. This programme will ensure that front-line youth workers have the capacity to extract the maximum benefit from the new resources developed and that youth volunteers, parents and guardians are properly trained to support them.

All of the aforementioned materials will be made available on our bespoke, intuitive website. This website, and all contents, will be translated into all partner languages - German, English, French, Greek and Czech. You will be able to find the material through this link: https://hyper-project.eu/



Online meeting of partners

What is coming next?

Unfortunately, due to COVID19, partners have had to cancel face to face meetings up until point. The same has been decided for the Transnational Training event, due to be held in The UK. Instead, the training will go ahead as a online event. This will ensure the event will definitely take place, hopefully at the end of October. Much like many other people, partners have had to move all activities to online environments over the past few months and have become pretty comfortable working in such environments. Therefore, partners are confident that the online TTE will be a big success. Other than the TTE, all that is left to do is finalize everything and partners are confident that, overall, the project will have been extremely worthwhile, beneficial and well received.
